

Don Lombardo

Senior Art Director

Don arrived at Page2 with nine years of publishing industry experience in marketing/advertising design and art direction with Pearson Education...plus a lifetime of accomplishment in fine art and photography. In the publishing world, Don progressed from line-art illustrator and regional ad designer, to lead marketing designer of all national cross-discipline material for Pearson Marketing; then to Senior Art Director, responsible for the design and production of entire multi-level educational publishing series — from concept to completion. His background in art history and production enriches his skills in high-level graphic design and conceptual development.

d.lombardo@page-2.com | x106