

OurpArt.com Branding

OurpArt.com was a small start-up venture aimed at providing an online forum for artists to display and sell their work. Its founders came to Page2 with only this objective in mind...no name, logo, tagline or other essential elements existed. We worked closely with the client to gain a complete understanding of their motivations and desired message before getting to work on concept development.